

Academic Writing Course Description

This three-day course in academic writing skills will give participants the analytical, contextual, structural, and stylistic writing tools they need to compete with native speakers of English for limited publication space in international journals. Based on the linguistic theory of contrastive rhetoric, the course reveals the unwritten rules of English academic writing and discusses them within the context of the different and unconscious expectations accorded both readers and writers within the English linguistic community. Instructor Natalie Reid presents the five major strategies for maximizing the academic writer's chances of publication in the top journals in his or her field. These strategies help the writer to recognize and work with linguistic and organizational cues not readily apparent to the untrained eye. With a combination of lecture and in-class exercises, the course give participants the grammatical and stylistic tricks of the trade—as well as the basic principles of journal elimination and journal-of-choice analysis—for achieving their publication goals.

Daily Schedule

9:00 - 10:30 First session
10:30 - 10:45 Morning break
10:45 - 12:30 Second session
12:30 - 1:30 Lunch
1:30 - 3:30 Third session
3:30 - 3:45 Afternoon break
3:45 - 5:30 Fourth session
5:30 – 6:30 Free time
6:30 Dinner

Please note that the course will start on Sunday, February 21, in the evening with a welcome meeting at 19:00 followed by a dinner.
The course will finish at 3:30 p.m. on Wednesday, February 24.

List of Topics

- Introduction to course and theory of contrastive rhetoric
- General writing and editing suggestions
- Clarity: pronoun reference analysis and exercises
- Pruning: analysis and exercises
- Pruning: structure words and hedge words
- Active/passive voice: analysis and exercises
- Modifier problems: analysis and exercises
- Parallel structure: analysis and exercises
- Paragraphing (including exercise if time permits)
- Organization (including purpose statements and parts of paper)

- Linguistic "logic": exercises
- Analysis of abstract structures
- Abstract analysis
- Abstract analysis exercises

- Overall structural analysis of framing and argumentation
- General introduction to journal analysis:
  - elimination analysis
  - organizational, structural, and linguistic analyses

The materials will include both workbooks and lots of handouts.